

“Your City at Risk: Be Prepared”

Orange Park – February 17 | Boca Raton – February 24 | Crestview – March 3
Altamonte Springs – March 24 | St. Pete Beach – March 31

DESCRIPTION:

Accidents. Disasters. Response. Every hour of every day, Florida’s municipalities deliver a wide variety of services smoothly and efficiently. However, we know from media reports that all too often, accidents and disasters do occur . . . despite our best plans, policies and procedures.

How can your city understand its risks, either eliminate or manage them effectively, and properly communicate to the public it serves?

This summit will begin with a discussion about public perceptions of safety across Florida. Attendees will then learn how to identify risks within the many services cities provide, and learn how to best address each of those risks. In the afternoon, service delivery experts will join attendees to delve deeper into specific service concerns.

Join your colleagues as we learn how to reduce and eliminate risks to improve service delivery, save money and build safer cities.

WHO: Elected officials, managers, risk managers and department directors. Open only to municipalities that are members of the Florida League of Cities.

COST: No charge
